On behalf of The California Maritime Academy we would like to thank you for your participation in the Oral History Project. The California Maritime Academy is now heading into the final quarter of its first century. During that time, it has grown from a small nautical training school to a unique part of the California State University system. Our alumni, faculty, staff and others who have been affiliated with us have played an important role in the history of the state, the region and the nation. Many have proudly served our country in times of conflict and helped to develop today’s modern maritime industry, in all of its facets, in times of peace. Documenting and preserving that history through the memories and the records of our alumni, faculty and staff is an important part of our task as an educational institution. We hope you enjoy this special opportunity to contribute your unique history.

Oral History Kit Procedures

Interview Setup

• Select a location for the interview.
  • o Make sure that all involved feel comfortable.
  • o Avoid rooms with loud heating & air systems, chiming clocks, phone calls and other conversations.
  • o If interviewing at a residence, inform other occupants not to disturb the interview.
• Select highest quality recording equipment
  • o Video recordings are acceptable and encouraged.
  • o Avoid using micro-cassette recorders.
  • o Ensure that your equipment works and you know how to use it.
  • o Use only high quality media. Have spares available.

Pre-Interview Preparation

• Research
  • o Discuss and determine with interviewee the purpose of the oral history. (i.e. time periods and any events)
  • o We encourage you to bring photographs, letters, journals, memorabilia and other artifacts related to the purpose of the oral history.
  • o Also, the Library is eager to have artifacts/documents relevant to the history of Cal Maritime possibly donated and/or copied. The items will be accessioned into the Historical Archives Collection at the Cal Maritime Library and painstakingly cared for.
• Plan Questions
  • o Research events or people related to the time periods discussed in the pre-interview. Include in your research campus yearbooks and other oral histories in the collection.
  • o Write down the major questions to be answered. These should be broadly constructed. Within the context of these broad questions, write down follow-up questions to help guide the interview.
  • o Plan enough questions to create at least 30 minutes of recording. Ideally, standard practice dictates the oral histories should be 30 to 90 minutes. However, any oral history submitted will be considered for inclusion into the collection.
  • o In advance of the interview session the interviewee & interviewer should both have read and become comfortable with the questions each other have prepared. If the interviewer has any concerns or would like the prepared questions reviewed, contact the Library Director.
During the Interview

• Make sure recording equipment is recording.
  • Begin speaking only after you have verification your equipment is recording.
  • If using a standard cassette recorder, (avoid using micro-cassette recorders) do not place the recorder on the same table with the microphone. The microphone will record the mechanical noises being transmitted through the solid material. Even more important if interviewing on a ship, vibrations and noises from ship machinery will also carry.
  • Video cameras should be only be used with approval of the interviewee. When used they should be aimed at the interviewee, with good lighting conditions, so that the picture shows the hands, torso and face of the interviewee.
  • Never Secretly Record
  • Use the “Standard” recording speed of your equipment. “Extended” recording speeds do not make quality, achievable recordings.
  • Keep the equipment recording through the entire interview. Be attentive and quick to replace media if recording media becomes full and stops.
• Begin each session with Required Information
  Date (Month, Day, Year)
  Name of Interviewee
  Interviewee’s Birth Date
  Name of Interviewer
  Name of Recording Personnel
  Location (Be specific. Ex: Interviewee’s Home in (City) & (State), CMA Administration Building, aboard (Name of Ship), …)
  Relationship to interviewee or Affiliated Organization
• Asking Questions
  • Keep questions short and uncomplicated. It is better to ask more follow-up questions than long complicated questions.
  • Avoid asking “yes” or “no” questions.
  • Use discretion when discussing sensitive topics. Try to lead the discussion away though redirecting questions.
  • Reciprocate interviewee’s answers through positive body language and gestures instead of vocalized responses.
  • Take advantage of serendipity. Allow the interviewee to diverge from planned questions as recollection occurs.
• Be Patient
  • Interviewee’s are recounting memories and formulating the sentences needed to answer your question. With older interviewee’s this may take more time.
  • Give 3 to 7 seconds of attentive silence after major questions. This will encourage interviewee’s to contribute more memories and experiences. If silence lasts longer, determine whether the interviewee either:
    • did not understand the question and reformat the question
    • has shared all they will share about the matter and ask your next prepared question
